The Sea Islands.
Long Staple Cotton.
The "Bloody Marsh."
Georgia's Beautiful Coast.
By Arthur Brisbane

S T. SIMONS ISLAND, GA., Dec. 16.—This is one of the beautiful sea islands lying close to Georgia's coast, near Brunswick, forming an island waterway along the Atlantic.

Here grew originally the "sea island cotton" with long staple known over the world. It grows now in far away Arizona and across the ocean in the Nile valley. You have it in your rubber tires.

On this island Oglethorpe fought the battle of "Bloody Marsh" that settled for all time the Spanish claim to these lands.

Spaniards landed from their ships, which had just defeated the British, and marched inland. Oglethorpe met them and defeated them.

Local tradition says the Spaniards came from their boats without shoes. Oglethorpe spread branches of prickly pear all over the bloody marsh. Anyhow, he won.

His fortification, Fort Oglethorpe, still stands in ruins at the water's edge in the little hamlet of Fredericks. Its walls of oyster shell masonry, several feet thick, defy time and stand, with the old rusty cannon on top. The walls were built in 1735.

Closer by is the church built by John Wesley, who came from England to carry on the religious ideas and although he didn't know it at the time, to establish the Methodist church, with one possible exception the most powerful in the United States.

At the end of two long rows of live oaks, about 500 years old, you see ruins of the residence of Col. King, where Aaron Burr went into retirement after killing Alexander Hamilton.

Slave quarters and the old house in ruins are also of oyster shell masonry.

Natives tell you they know the live oaks are 500 years old because "it takes them 100 years to drop their leaves." It takes 100 years, then it takes them 100 years to die.

Oyster shells are still abundant. Men don't go to the market for oysters here. They go to the edge of the marsh and pick them up. They don't go to the market for oysters here. They go to the edge of the marsh and pick them up.

This old island comes to life in a modern way, thanks to Detroit and Howard Coffin. He made his millions in Hudson and River automobiles. Instead of taking his money to Europe, he came back to build a big hotel. He joined Carl Fisher in building up Monticello, Fla., the far end of Long Island, with golf links, polo fields, airplane landing fields and a fine big hotel.

He has just finished building another fine hotel, more and more like airplane fields, polo fields, etc., on this island.

Georgia is much obliged to him for this proof that he appreciated as fine a coast resort as there is in the world.

The good Lord gives to human beings the beautiful earth. It takes individuals with the energy to make it available for the big crowd, as Flieger developed Florida, Carl Fisher developed Miami, the Prince of Monaco developed Monte Carlo, and as Mr. Coffin is developing this part of the wonderful coast of Georgia.

Here, it is just warm enough and just cool enough in winter, never uncomfortably cold, never oppressively hot. And there are all kinds of things to be killed, if you happen to be a sportsman.

Twenty miles down the coast on the mainland, quickly reached in a speed boat, Mr. Coffin has a game preserve of 60,000 acres. If you start at 3 in the morning and wait until sunrise, you will get half a dozen wild turkeys. There are plenty of deer, wild cats, opossums, coons, quail, pheasants and other game.

Mr. Coffin doesn't shoot, he is too busy thinking about something else to build.

In the ocean off the islands, fish are abundant, including swordfish, that fight hard and must be harpooned from a "tug" built out over the bow of the boat.

At low tide this beach, hard enough for automobile racing, presents a perfect airplane landing field, three hundred feet wide, five miles long and the quiet inland waters were made to receive hydroplanes.

In a short time commercial airplanes will bring passengers here from New York in three hours, and on to Palm Beach and Miami in two or three hours more. If you doubt that, wait and see.

Meanwhile, might you yourself some good waterfront? It is present, accessible, for lack of railroads. Please turn to page 15, column 1.

MAYOR NICHOLS

Broadsides Fired in Nichols-Fuller War

"I suggest that the name Governor sq. be changed so that it may be considered a monument to inefficiency, and that statues be placed on four corners, one of Nichols, one of Innes, one of Bottomly and the fourth of Goulston. I understand that Goulston is mayor in the morning, Bob Bottomly in the afternoon, and Charlie Innes at night."—From Governor Fuller's statement.

"MY experience with the Governor justifies the conclusion that he quickly becomes impatient in dealing with public questions. I am not surprised at it. He is a successful speculator and not a studious administrator."—From Mayor Nichols' reply to Governor's Fuller's Malden address.

Curbing of Crooked Lawyers Urged

GOV. FULLER MAY BOLT G.O.P.

FEAR THEY HAVE BEEN ABDUCTED

Two school girls, both singers in the junior choir of the Whitman Congregational Church, were reported missing yesterday afternoon. The church members were asked to search for them here.

According to their parents, who fear that they are being held for ransom, the girls were taken from the church last night and never arrived there. They are Sharon Hutchinson, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hutchinson of High St., Whitman, and Ruth Jones, 14, daughter of Thomas E. Jones of Bell Ave.

Because neither of the girls had a sweetheart or had ever displayed any inclination to leave home, their parents said they were convinced they had been abducted.

During the night each girl was believed by her parents to be staying at the home of the other, although no communication to this effect was received at either home.

TRUST STOP BIG FEES IN AUTO CASES

The Judicial Council, composed of judges and eminent attorneys, today called upon the Legislature, the council and the bar to check the unprofessional practices and excessive fee-taking of lawyers, especially in connection with automobile accident cases.

In its annual report to the governor, the council says: "In view of the charges made by the insurance commission, we think the public expects the Legislature, courts and bar to take such reasonable measures as may be needed to check in future such unprofessional practices as may exist."

The council states that it has no means of knowing to what extent objectionable activities are carried on in view of disbarment proceedings in other large cities, deems it reasonable to suppose that similar conditions prevail here.

"With the opportunities for collusion," the council says.

MUST FACE TRIAL AS BURGLARS

Mabel Ryan, Ruth Gardner and Mary Leonard, all of Roxbury, who are held by police on charges of burglary. They were arrested with two youths in a stolen auto. Police say they looted stores in several sections of Greater Boston. They will be arraigned tomorrow. Police fired shots in the chase that ended in their capture.

GOVERNOR MAY TURN DEMOCRATIC, REPORT RIFE ON BEACON HILL

Governor Fuller may shed the Republican mantle which has done little to warm him, and become a Democrat.

This was the report on Beacon Hill today as a result of Governor Fuller's attack on the Republican party in his address to the Legislature last night. Fuller came out unequivocally and declared that "what Massachusetts needs is more Democratic and more political competition."

He also he entered political life. Please turn to page 2, column 1.

Governor Makes Targets

Of Three "Actual Mayors"

In Battle With Nichols

BOTTOMLEY IS MAYOR IN THE MORNING, GOULSTON IN THE AFTERNOON AND INNES AT NIGHT

AS USUAL THE GOVERNOR IS CARELESS BOTH WITH HIS LANGUAGE AND WITH THE FACTS

LAUNCHING MALDEN BOMB
Governor Fuller, besides declaring Mayor Nichols does not run the city, charged that the city was being robbed and hoodwinked out of transportation facilities such as the East Boston tunnel and Governor sq. plans.

"BOB" BOTTOMLEY
Termed in Fuller's "hot shot" speech "afternoon mayor."

"ERNIE" GOULSTON
In charge of city affairs during the morning, according to state's chief executive.

"CHARLIE" INNES
Third mayor, whose duties begin where Bottomley's leave off—in the evening. This completes trio of "actual" mayors.

FULLER MAY TURN DEMOCRAT, REPORT ON BEACON HILL

The Governor, independently wealthy and beyond the dictates of party leaders, has conducted his office as he believed it should be conducted. According to his own statements, he has known that he has offended the directors in his party, but he has continued to do so because he believed that those courses he believed best for the greatest number of people.

Never was he an organization man, and in fact he was opposed by the Republican machine when he sought the governorship.

ATTACKS ENTIRE G. O. P.
In the present struggle, he has lined himself up against not only Mayor Nichols and "Charlie" Innes, but he has moved boldly against practically the entire G. O. P. in the Legislature.

The Governor on his arrival at the State House today, denied that he has bent any kind of an eye on the Boston mayoralty job.

"Great seat!" he exclaimed, laughing, when asked the question, "I am a resident of Malden and expect to continue my residence there. I have no further to be Mayor of Boston."

In answer to further questions, he said that in his opinion, the Governor sq. subway and the East Boston tunnel projects will go through, despite Mayor Nichols' opposition.

The first official act of the Governor after reporting was to ask for copies of the Finance Commission report on land changes, said by Boston in connection with various improvements, and on tax abatements on East Boston property in connection with the tunnel.

LAUGHS AT CHARGE
The Governor characterized as "ridiculous" the Mayor's charge that he is interested in the Governor sq. development because he has real estate to dispose of.

If it were material advantage I was looking for," said the Governor, "I could accomplish more by attending to my business in a month than by doing things over a much more extended period of time at the State House."

Then, Robert J. Tamm and Ernest J. Goulston, the men characterized by the Governor as "the three real mayors of Boston," all refused today to comment on the governor's attack.

"Here are their 'responses':

Innes: "I have nothing to say."

Nothing to say.

Bottomley: "I have nothing to say."

Mayor Nichols has been in public life for a long time and the public know too well his splendid ability."

Goulston: "I have nothing to say."

I don't want to get into a controversy. What's the good of it?"

Gov. Fuller statement relative to these three men being the "actual" mayors of Boston, with Nichols merely sitting in a velvet chair, was one of the high spots in the Governor's attack.

The Governor asserted, in his franchise against Nichols, that the corner of Boston has been, and is being, "systematically robbed" under the guise of politics.

The statement is his reply to a

Governor Dodges In Invective, Says Mayor

"Governor Fuller, when confronted with difficult questions, substitutes personal invective for dispassionate discussion," Mayor Nichols asserted in replying to statements made by the Governor in his Malden address.

"Perhaps he is the Governor who is really suffering pain because the mayor of Boston will not accept a Governor sq. bill which will help his property at the expense of the taxpayers of Boston," said Nichols.

denunciation of him by the Mayor, who replied to the Governor's first "hot shot" fired in Malden that the Mayor terms "Fuller's crowd dinner, his own song."

Governor Fuller said today he expected to give out the Finance Commission's report on the East Boston land deal.

His statement follows:

"I believe the people of Boston are being robbed (see Finance Commission report) and hoodwinked out of transportation facilities such as the East Boston tunnel and the Governor sq. subway. That being the case, I felt it my duty to sound the alarm and if I have succeeded, in placing the responsibility for the delay in constructing these two improvements on the mayor's doorstep, where they belong, then I am satisfied."

"When the mayor tries to make the public believe I am speculating in land or stocks, then the most charitable conclusion that I can come to is that he is in his usual irresponsible condition.

As to men buying up land in East Boston who are friends of the mayor, the governor said: "I mean McDonald and his associates, and I am perfectly willing to name them."

CURLEY AS REFORMER
The Governor laughed. "I think we have them on the run," he said, and he chuckled again.

"Then, as an after thought, he said slowly: "And by the way, you might say that I predict James M. Curley will be elected on a reform administration platform next December, or practically a unanimous vote."

That City Hall there supposed to be as much pop being put into flame for battle as at the State House. The mayor said:

"The mayor of Boston feels sorry for the Governor of Massachusetts because the Governor, as usual, is careless both with his language and with the facts."

"My experience with the governor justifies the conclusion that he is a successful speculator and not a student administrator. Public questions demand a close attention which a speculator's mind is unable to give. Successful speculation in the stock market leads to an arrogant disregard of the ordinary facts of life."

The most amusing part of his statement is that in which he criticizes a Governor for owning real estate at Governor sq. They tell me that the Packard Motor Company, owned by Governor Fuller and various other agencies in which he is said to have an interest are the largest owners of real estate which will be benefited by the Governor square subway."

Get a good glass of real estate, say it is widely, say for it keep it, and later it will keep you. See the second verse listed below in real estate columns of the Classified Ads.

SEEK MISSING CHOIR GIRLS IN BOSTON

Today each family was in touch with the other, and then the discovery was made for the first time that the girls virtually dropped from sight when they left the Hutchinson home for the church.

Inquiries were made of their church and church members, and all declared they were not at the evening service. Both sang earlier in the day in the Junior choir.

The Hutchinson girl is a freshman at Whitman High School, while Ruth is a pupil in the Junior high school.

Their descriptions, which were sent throughout New England and New York, are as follows:

Madeline Hutchinson, blonde, older than her 14 years; 5 feet 11 inches tall, 120 pounds, dark bobbed hair, wears low-cut coat with fur collar and cuffs, dark scarf with blue flowers, light stockings, tan shoes, sack of red beads.

Ruth Jones, 5 feet 4 inches, 125 pounds, dark hair, gray eyes, brown coat, dress and shoes, light stockings, green close-fitting hat.

Curley Will Be "Reform Mayor," Says Fuller

"I predict James M. Curley will be elected on a reform administration platform next December by practically a unanimous vote," Governor Fuller, returning fire directed against him by Mayor Nichols in answer to the Governor's address in Malden Saturday night.

The morning bulletin said: "The King had a fair night with some natural sleep towards morning. The slight improvement in his Majesty's condition noted yesterday continues."

The bulletin was signed by Sir Hugh Huxley, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn.

It was noted that today for the first time the bulletin mentioned "natural" sleep in reporting developments in the King's case, although there had been frequent mention of how well or ill his Majesty slept.

This led to the supposition that much of the sleep that he had previously been reported as having might have been artificially induced. The wording in which the bulletins are couched is so carefully chosen as to lend strength to this supposition.

ENCOURAGEMENT CONTINUES
Later a statement from an authoritative quarter confirmed the public impression in this respect. This statement interpreted the bulletin as meaning that his Majesty, for the first time since his illness became serious, had passed 24 hours without a sedative.

This is regarded as encouraging as the natural sleep which the King was reported as having had in ex-

GLORIOUS PROGRAM ON AIR THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY TO USHER IN GREATEST OF WORLD'S HOLIDAYS
Throughout the nation, one week from tonight, radio listeners will hear a notable program of Christmas carols, fostered by the Hearst newspapers co-operating with the National Broadcasting Co. In New England the music and singing will be heard from station WBZ, beginning at 11 p. m. Rev. Dr. William J. Finn, noted choirman and musical director, plays the organ, and his famous Paulist Chorists—boys possessed of the sweetest of voices—sing the songs. In the program children everywhere, and grown-ups, too, will be invited to join in the carol-singing, so that for the first time there will be a vast national chorus of carolers, listeners uniting with broadcast artists. Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman will deliver the introductory address.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer

By John Held, Jr.

"My dear, I'm about to SWOON with exHAUSTION at this point—I mean I'm COMPLETELY BAPPED and nonPLUSSED because Arab and I decided in other DAY, my dear, that it was high TIME PUPPY-wags had a NAME because I mean the way it IS the situation's too utterly HECK, my dear, because as Arab pointed OUT how can the poor darling know who he IS unless he's got a NAME, my dear, do you know what I mean? But I'm all hot and BOTHERED because it's REALLY awfully SERIOUS christening a DOG something, my dear, when he's an UNUSUAL and everything as PUPPY-wags because I mean you can't just call him RÖVER or Fido or something ISANE like THAT, my dear, because I mean I think you ought to kind of think UP some awfully sort of original and SNAPPY title for the little but ACTUALLY, my dear, Arab simply SLEW me because while we were HOTLY debating this matter he kept making the most RIDIC REBARKERS like

Erinstance that NAPOLEON made a name for HIMSELF but of course we couldn't expect PUPPY-wags to be so acCOMMODATING because he wasn't a DOG of WAR or something—can you CUFFE with it? Well, ANYWAYS, my dear, I'm TOO UPSET because ANYWAYS I think it's SIMPLY POISONOUS the idea of PUPPY-wags being NAMELESS, my dear, because I mean it'SOUND'S so vague or something, do you know what I mean?

ARMY TURNS ON AFGHAN KING

New Delhi, India, Dec. 17 (AP)—Reports from the frontier state that King Amanullah of Afghanistan and Queen Soraya have taken refuge in a fort, the army having turned against them.

While disturbances in the more remote sections of Afghanistan have been reported recently, today's news was the first indication that the insurrection had spread to Kabul, the capital, a city of about 200,000 population.

The trouble at Kabul was attributed to the King's drastic water-rationing reforms and to Queen Soraya's desire to abolish purdah, or the seclusion of women.

Considerable anxiety was felt regarding the safety of the foreign representatives in the capital.

The domestic fuel problem is solved by taking a bit of the apartment and the electricity daily in the New East street.

MAINS DRIVER IS RESCUED WITH AID OF DOG

Floating face down in Charles river basin near the foot of Rockley st., in an alleged attempt to commit suicide, Charles Novello, 60, of Chelsea st., East Boston, was rescued by a group of citizens today.

Rescued to Massachusetts General Hospital, Novello told Sgt. Walter French of Division 16 that he wanted to die.

The man was discovered by Corporal French of Rockley st., who was exercising a police dog on the embankment. Novello seemed to be dead. French shouted for help, his cries accompanied by the barking of the dog.

A group gathered and one man hurried a life preserver that around the floating man on the head and apparently brought him to life. He was turned over, thrashed around for a moment and then seized the preserver. He was hauled to shore, where French and Sgt. French and a detail hurried to the scene.

Compiling a Priscilla Price

Dearest Anne:

It is only one little week away now—and oh, what may I say!

Today, perhaps in your own home, you are in the house to be surprised away to receive their holy holiday dress of holy paper and shiny ribbons, with perhaps a sprig of mistletoe or a twinkling Bethlehem star. I am sure that you haven't finished that second task of gift-buying yet—and that you are just about now saying—"Oh, what shall I give?"

So I'll tell you where I have been and what I have bought.

Varicose Veins

varicose! Now, why didn't I think of that before. Here is poor Kathie suffering untold pain with her enlarged, darkened veins of the ankles—when a pair of Dr. Scott's "Ankle" elastic stock will not only relieve the pain, but will also keep the veins from becoming worse.

So I'll tell you where I have been and what I have bought.

Have You an Artist in Your Family or a student whose sole interest is centered around the drawing board? If you have—then there is nothing you can give him for Christmas that would appeal so strongly as instruments to use in his chosen field. You can absolutely rely upon the correctness of Spaulding Moss Co.'s wide assortment of artist and draughtsman's goods.

If this sort of thing is just a mass of names and numbers to you, you can depend upon the advice of Spaulding Moss Co. in your selection. Drafting instruments for engineers, architects, dent or professional—are priced $1.35 and up. I am sure an extra set—one for office or school, and one for the home, would be most appreciated. A Drawing Set, comprising compass, T-Square, and Angles, is priced from $1.35 to $1.50. Steel tapes, slide rules, and all sorts of calculating measures are very reasonably priced. Desk sets for the glowing colors, that add a decorative touch to either home or office, are priced from $1.35 to $1.50. Spaulding Moss Co. is located at 45 Franklin St., corner Hawley.

Under the Mistletoe

Polly will stand in a brand new dress, ready to be kissed under the mistletoe. Her Dad is giving it to her for Christmas, for, of course, there is no gift so precious as a new dress.

So I'll tell you where I have been and what I have bought.

But a Fur Coat Lasts for Years!

So teased a pretty bit of my acquaintance. In the end, she succeeded in convincing her brand-new husband that a fur coat is really the gift of gifts for Christmas. So off they went to Scott Furriers, Inc., New England's Largest Fur Establishment, and the little bride got her wish. Incidentally, they made a very wise investment, because a good fur coat will outlast a good dress, and it will wear better.

They chose Scott Furriers because of Scott's three wonderful, economical methods of purchase. If you wish you may pay cash, or you may open a 30-day charge account, or, if you prefer, you may buy on the "Pay for Fur Club and make small weekly or monthly payments."

SEEK BILLER AS SLAYERN IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 17 (AP)—Twenty-five picked secret police of the Havana force were sent out this morning in search of Herman (Gilly) Biller, under indictment in New York City for the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

They carried warrants for his arrest. They also were seeking a woman associate of Biller and Rothstein.

N. Y. Policeman After "Gilly" Biller in Cuba

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Search for one of the four men indicted for the murder of Arnold Rothstein, three of whom are still at large, was continuing on Havana, Cuba, today. Sergt. James Garvey, of the New York police force, called for the Cuban capital Saturday morning to arrest Herman (Gilly) Biller, race track follower and "racy off" man for George McManus, only one of the four indicted men under arrest. McManus is in jail here awaiting trial.

Biller's photograph and description were broadcast to all police stations in this country last week. The other two men indicted with Biller and McManus have been identified only by the legal pseudonyms of John Doe and Richard Roe.

TAKE UP DAM BILL TUESDAY

Washington, Dec. 17 (INS)—The House irrigation committee voted unanimously today to ask the House to concur in the Senate amendments to the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill.

Representative Smith (R) of Idaho, chairman, was authorized to make the motion on the House floor tomorrow.

If the House approves, the bill will be sent immediately to the White House for President Coolidge's signature, avoiding the delay of a conference.

"The committee took the view that the Senate amendments did not weaken the bill," said Smith, "I am confident the House will approve the motion."

After the meeting Representative Douglas (D) of Arizona introduced his opposition to the measure, but did not indicate what action he would take in the House tomorrow.

$150,000 in Santa Run on Derelict

New York, Dec. 17 (INS)—A mystery boat without a crew and loaded with 250 drums and kegs of rye whiskey and alcohol was towed into port today by the New York harbor guard.

The liquor was valued at $150,000.

Start Search For Missing Canoeists

Parkersburg, W. Va., Dec. 17 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hyde of Hansen, Ida., who started a canoe trip down the Colorado River canyon November 16 and 10 days overdue at Needles, Ariz., William L. Halsey of Parkersburg, father of Mrs. Hyde, made known here today. Halsey said he intended to ask Governor Howard H. Hunt of West Virginia to request the federal government to institute an airplane search for the couple.

Santa Claus Killed in His Toy Laden Auto

Prescott, Ariz., Dec. 17 (AP)—The Santa Claus who annually visited Wagener, an isolated range town 20 miles from here, will not bring gifts to the children this year. He was killed when his gift-laden automobile plunged into a mountain ravine during a blinding snowstorm yesterday.

The gift bearer died among his wrecked toys, but with his last breath he murmured to the rescue party.

"Boys, for God's sake see that these kiddies are happy," he said.

Disaster overtook the party a few miles from here in a terrific snowstorm.

Revere Man Is Suicide by 6

Joseph Hudson, 52, of 38 1/2 St., Revere, was found asphyxiated by illuminating gas in the kitchen of his home by his sister, Mary A. Murray, with whom he lived. He had gotten up at night and gone to the kitchen to smoke, and had turned on the jets of the gas range, attaching clothes about the door to keep the fumes from penetrating other rooms.

Elinor Wylie, Poet, Dies After Shock

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Elinor Wylie, 42, poet and novelist, who figured in a Washington episode a quarter of a century ago, died last night of a paralytic stroke.

A fall, which she suffered in London last summer, was thought to have hastened her death.

Miss Wylie (Mrs. William Rose Pratt), who was born in Rossmore, Pa., was the daughter of Henry M. Pratt of Washington, solicitor-general under President Taft.

Local People Urged to Prevent Epidemic Spreading as it did in 1918 when Half a Million Lives were Lost in this Country Alone
While there is no cause for alarm at this time, health authorities urge all the people to take the necessary precautions, when grippiness, pneumonia and influenza are so prevalent.
Go to Lead to Flu
Warning is given particularly against coughing, sneezing, and blowing one's physical resistance and thus make the body easy prey for influenza, grip and pneumonia. Even a little cold, authorities say, is dangerous unless checked at once. A safe plan is to check every cold at the start by a vigorous application of Vicks VapoRub, rubbed on throat and chest.
Acts 2 Ways at Once
For hours after Vicks is applied, its ingredients, time-tested remedies, such as camphor, menthol, eucalyptus, thyme, and turpentine, are released as vapors by the body-heat, and inhaled directly to the infected air-passages, loosening the mucus and easing the difficult breathing. At the same time, Vicks rubs through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and soreness.
Avoids "Dosing" Children
Mothers especially appreciate Vicks for children, as it can be used freely and often, without disturbing the child's sleep. Over 21 million jars are used yearly.

Haverhill Man Is Killed by Train

Haverhill, Dec. 17—The mangled body of Ludwig Supranawicz, about 40 years of age, was found less than 200 yards from the Boston & Maine Railroad depot early today on the main line, where he had apparently been struck by a Portland train late last night.

His body lay on the tracks for hours before being discovered by the crew of a shifter working about the yards. Railroad officials and police are of the opinion the man caught his foot in a frog in the tracks and was unable to scrape the approaching train. He resided at 2 Bethel St., Haverhill.

SEEK BILLER AS SLAYER IN HAVANA

Havana, Cuba, Dec. 17 (AP)—Twenty-five picked secret police of the Havana force were sent out this morning in search of Herman Gillis Biller, under indictment in New York City for the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

Three captured Havana for his arrest. They also were seeking a woman associate of Biller and Rothstein.

N. Y. Policeman After "Gilly" Biller in Cuba

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Search for one of the four men indicted in the murder of Arnold Rothstein, three of whom are still at large, was entering on Havana, Cuba, today. Sergeant James Harvey of the New York police force sailed for the Cuban capital Saturday hoping to arrest Herman Gillis Biller, race track follower and "pay off" man for George McManus, only one of the four indicted men under arrest. McManus is in jail here awaiting trial.

Biller's photograph and description were broadcast to all police stations in this country last week. The other two men indicted with Biller and McManus have been identified only by the local pseudonyms of John Doe and Richard Roe.

TAKE UP DAM BILL TUESDAY

Washington, Dec. 17 (INS)—The House Irrigation committee voted unanimously today to ask the House to concur in the Senate amendments to the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill.

Representative Smith (R) of Idaho, chairman, was authorized to make the motion on the House floor tomorrow.

If the House approves, the bill will be sent immediately to the White House for President Coolidge's signature, avoiding the delay of a conference.

"The committee took the view that the Senate amendments had not weakened the bill," said Smith. "I am confident the House will approve the motion."

After the meeting Representative Douglas (D) of Arizona reiterated his opposition to the measure, but did not indicate what action he would take in the House tomorrow.

Start Search For Missing Canoeists

Parkerson, W. Va., Dec. 17 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hyde of Harpers, Ida., who started a canoe trip down the Colorado River canyon November 16, are 10 days overdue at Needles, Ariz., William L. Haley of Parkersburg, father of Mrs. Hyde, made known here tonight. Haley said he intended to ask Governor Howard M. Gore of West Virginia to request the federal government to mount an airplane search for the couple.

Santa Claus Killed in His Toy Laden Auto

Present, Ariz., Dec. 17 (AP)—The Santa Claus who annually visited Wickenburg, no longer ranged down 30 miles from here, will not bring gifts to the children this year. He was killed when his gift-laden automobile plunged into a mountain ravine during a blinding snowstorm yesterday.

Revere Man Is Suicide by Gas

Joseph Hudson, 54, of 33 Oxford st., Revere, was found asphyxiated by illuminating gas in the kitchen of his home by his sister, Mrs. Mary A. Murray, with whom he resided. He had gotten up in the night and gone to the kitchen, his sister stated, and had turned on the gas of the gas range, after placing clothes about the door cracks to keep the fumes from penetrating other rooms.

Elinor Wylie, Poet, Dies After Shock

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—Elinor Wylie, 42, poet and novelist, who figured in a Washington episode a quarter of a century ago, died last night of a paralytic stroke. A fall, which she suffered in London last summer, was thought to have hastened her death.

Miss Wylie (Mrs. William Ross Borth, who was born in Rosemont, Pa., was the daughter of Henry M. Borth of Washington, editor-general under President Taft.

Haverhill Man Is Killed by Train

Haverhill, Dec. 17—The mangled body of Ludwig Szpanawicz, about 10 years of age, was found less than 100 yards from the Boston & Maine Railroad depot early today on the main line, where he had apparently been struck by a Portland train late last night.

His body lay on the tracks for hours before being discovered by the crew of a shifter working about in the yards. Railroad officials and police are of the opinion the man caught his foot in a frog in the main line, where he had apparently been struck by a Portland train late last night.

Massachusetts Must Guard Against Flu

Local People Urged to Prevent Epidemic Spreading as it did in 1918 when Half a Million Lives were Lost in this Country Alone

TAKE NO CHANCES WITH COLDS

While there is no cause for alarm at this time, health authorities urge extra precaution—especially now, when grippe, colds, pneumonia and influenza are so prevalent.

Colds Lead to "Flu"

Warning is given particularly against neglecting colds, which make the body easy prey for influenza, grip and pneumonia. Even a little cold, authorities say, is dangerous unless checked at once. A safe plan is to check every cold at the start by a vigorous application of Vicks VapoRub, rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime.

Acts 2 Ways At Once

For hours after Vicks is applied, its ingredients, time-tested remedies such as camphor, menthol, eucalyptol, thyme, and turpentine, are released as vapors by the body, and inhaled directly to the lungs, clearing the air-passages, loosening the phlegm and thinning the mucus, "drawing out" tightness and pain.

Avoids "Dosing" Children

Mothers especially appreciate Vicks for children, as it can be used freely and often, without disturbing the digestion—no "doses" with it. Over 21 million jars are used yearly.

GUILD PLAY TO AID WORTHY CAUSE, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

THERE ARE "BENEFITS" THAT ARE MERELY BENEFITS, NO MORE AND NO LESS, AND then there are "benefits" of transcending brilliance, as eagerly awaited as a Grand Opera premiere; artistically rich and socially glamorous, to which the entire fashionable set flocks and for which the family strong box discloses its pearls and other precious jewels. The sort of gala "Caprice" other precious jewels. This sort of gala, the presentation of "Caprice" by the Theater Guild will be on Tuesday, the second evening that benefits the Free Hospital for Women and brings sleek and shining motels filled with the elite to the Hotel Street Theater portals.

THE JEWELS AND THE MOTORS WILL BE EVIDENCES OF FIRST FAMILY INTEREST IN the evening, and will belong to such social lights as the L. WHAT PLEASANTER PROSPECT COULD THREE YOUNG men of the prep school and college age desire than weeks of luxurious "housewifery" where seas are limpid and sportive finny creatures rise eagerly to the bait? The B. H. Bristow Draper sons, "Benjamin," Jr. and Robert, are three such fortunate young men born into the straits where life is to be lived joyously, with the diversions of every clime at command. Mrs. Draper and her trio of sons are away to the southward far in advance of the fashionable exodus and hesitate not in their journey until they reach the Florida Keys, where winter has become summer and their household awaits them.

MRS. DRAPER ALREADY HAS DEPARTED, TAKING THE youngest son, Robert, with her. The other two entrals just as soon as the final hours of collegiate duty at Harvard are passed and the Christmas recess is on. The Drapers always find southward at some time during the winter, usually when fashionable life is at its highest flourish along the American Riviera and the joint to Cuba is as much a part of the southern trip as diamonds and pearls are a part of Milady's outfit for the sunny climes. Mr. Draper preceded his family south and there will be a merry reunion where the salt-fish abound and denizens of the deep are rainbow tinted.

DUCHESS MARIE HONOR WRIGHTS OF RUSSIA ON U. S. VISIT

New York, Dec. 17 (INS)—Grand Duchess Marie of Russia, first cousin of the late Czar Nicholas and one of the dominant members of the royal family when the Romanoff court was the most splendid in the world, is in the United States for a two-month visit. She is the guest of Mrs. William Randolph Hearst. The grand duchess said today that she plans to devote much of her time in America to the study of the country's work and the textile industry. She is proprietor of an embroidery factory in Paris and is active in promoting the welfare of the children of Russian exiles. Mrs. Hearst and the grand duchess became close friends during the former's many visits to Paris. Her imperial highness was met at the pier on her arrival in New York yesterday by Mrs. Hearst and last evening she was guest at a brilliant dinner and reception at the Hearst home in Riverside drive in honor of Grand Duke Alexander. "My chief desire is to study American methods of education and to see your great industrial plants," the grand duchess told newspapermen. "No one's education is complete without a visit to America." To the grand duchess and Mrs. Hearst were to leave today for California to spend the Christmas and New Year holidays on the Hearst estate at the Miramar Hotel, then across the continent with her hosts is keenly anticipated by the subcommittee. "It will remind me of my own country, and vast distances across the United States," she said.

Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 17 (INS)—A quiet, silver-haired man, who with his brother taught the world to fly, returned today to the isolated scenes of his first aerial experiments to receive the plaques of the aviation world. He was Orville Wright, brother of Wilbur. Back in 1904 the two pioneers experimented these lonely shores with mechanical wings and made the first sustained flight in a heavier-than-air craft. Today, representatives of practically every nation on earth, together with high public officials and modern-day aviation heroes, came to pay tribute to the two brothers. At the Kill Devil hill rests the cornerstone of the Government memorial dedicated to the memory of the Wrights. Another memorial—a seven-ton slab of Carolina granite—was placed on the spot from which the first successful take-off was made on December 17, 1903. The two memorials are to be dedicated today. Heading the pilgrimage to "the shrine of the air" today were Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis, Assistant Secretary of War F. T. D. Davidson, Senator Hiram Bingham (R.) of Connecticut, President of the National Aeronautic Association, and Gen. James H. Doolittle, chief of the Army Air Corps. Brig. Gen. Benjamin Fouke, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Clarence Chamberlin, Lieut. Lester Moulton and Miss Amelia Earhart.

$500,000 From U. S. Given Heidelberg
Heidelberg, Germany, Dec. 17 (INS)—American affection for this ancient university city found eloquent expression today by an exchange of certificates when Ambassador Schram presented an American check of $500,000 for a new hall of instruction, subsequently an American friendship was conferred on him by the city.

SKS FOR HUB PLANES WHEN SNOW COMES

By GEORGE W. HANBLEN
For the first time in its history, the Boston Airport will see skis on a commercial plane this winter, as a result of an order which has been placed by Skyways, Inc. The plane, which will be used for the purpose of flying mail, will be equipped with skis for use in the event of a snow storm. The company has ordered skis for a Stearman and a Challenger plane.

Charles Peterson, manager of the Portland Airport for Skyways, Inc., wired to the Boston office of the company to send up a Challenger for student work. Charles Peterson, one of Skyways pilots, flew Lady Heath's mail plane to Washington last Wednesday, making the 450-mile trip in five hours and 12 minutes. After Lady Peterson accompanied him, Charles is expected in any day with a Warner expedition. He will be flying the same ship that Ted Kenyon, president of the company, flew to Los Angeles during the cross-country race, a couple of months ago. Skyways intends to use the ship for general commercial work.

Least, Ralph T. Wickford, chief pilot of the Boston Airport Corp., made a trip to New York in a Warner expedition last Friday. He left the airport at 3:30 and was back by lunch. Three hundred and sixty miles, with a stop at Curtis Field to let off the passengers, got him back to Boston in slightly more than three and a half hours. Adolph Backstrom, student instructor of the Corporation, took an entire hour off Friday so that he could go home and install an antenna for his new radio. Backstrom said he didn't like the idea of being four stories high on a snowy roof at night. This from a bird who has had four thousand hours in the air.

What is perhaps a record for Boston New York air mail run, was hung up by Capt. Richard W. Mockett. Dick flew a total of 730 miles with mail, carrying three trips of 230 miles each and then came back to Bethany, Conn., 120 miles more. All this was done in one trip. Mockett left at 10:30 a. m. for Bethany, Conn., and returned at 11:30 a. m. The flight was made in the night. Mockett had a cup of coffee at the airport lunch room, and then came back to Bethany with special delivery mail. The flight was made in the night. Mockett had a cup of coffee at the airport lunch room, and then came back to Bethany with special delivery mail.

Poor Prodigy

Although for convenience the progressive housewife probably depends on excellent bakery bread four or five days in the week, she's pretty apt to treat her family at least once or twice a week to delicious proof of the fact that the gentle art of breadmaking is not lost to this generation.

No place or cakes over win the Oat and Aba of approval that the oven of fragrant, crusty brown bread that come from the Martha Lee oven.

Only last week we showed how mouth-watering, hot, yeast-risen rolls can be prepared and baked in a 40-minute period, from mixing to removing from the oven. We'll show this to you in picture form in the near future.

Today, we are illustrating, by request, the dainty and nourishing cheese biscuits which have earned many a star in the culinary corner of smart, let alone, home and hotel.

The perfect accompaniment for a salad, the best hors d'oeuvre, the perfect accompaniment for a dinner, these cheese biscuits deserve a place in every home.

Best of all, they can be mixed in the morning, or even the day before they are wanted, placed in the ice box and then, 15 minutes before serving, popped into piping hot oven for quick rising and baking.

Nearly a thousand men are employed in the factories where this flour is produced, and about $200,000,000 worth of it is made each year, and they make over 25,000 barrels of it a day. In each bag and barrel is impressed the spirit of highest standard flour, and it makes bread from this flour raise higher and give more waves to each loaf.

This flour holds more water, too, which means that bread and biscuits made from it will stay fresh longer. This flour can be very sure that it will never change its quality.

So, if you are a superior result, but we know the history of the flour, realize that these results are possible because the men who make it will never change its quality.

Other men employed in these mills now all the ways of screening and sifting and sifting each grain as perfectly as if it were done by hand. This flour is made by the best of men, and it is the best of flour.

And here's the recipe:
Cheese Biscuits: 1/2 lb. American cheese, grated, 3 cups bread flour, 4 eggs, baking powder 1 tsp., salt 1 tsp., shortening, 1/2 cup milk.

Mix and stir the dry ingredients. Rub in the shortening and cheese. Add the milk gradually, toss on a slightly floured board, roll gently to 1/2-inch thick and cut. Place on a baking sheet and bake at 400° for not over 15 to 18 minutes. Handle as you would handle any other bread and do not roll the trimmings back into the mass of dough.

Biscuit Is Perfect

Of all the foundation steps of practical cooking that are demonstrated in the Martha Lee Cooking School, none are more popular than the biscuits on bread and bluet making.

Those of you who have enjoyed these specialties in the always-popular Bellevue dining room, will need no second invitation to come and learn the secrets of their creation.

Mr. Zaborowski has been pastry chef of the Bellevue for over two years, and previous to that was connected with the Hotel Kenmore, T. D. Cook's and other prominent hotels, and restaurants.

If you are not entirely satisfied with your cakes, pastries and rolls, don't fail to plan now to be present in the Martha Lee Kitchen Wednesday, December 19, at 2 p. m.

Christmas Biscuits
Fine for Holiday
Roll 1 1/2 c. sugar with 1 1/2 c. white corn syrup to 2 1/2 p. or until it rattle. When a little is tried in cold water, it will be found to be a very good substitute for butter in a slightly buttered pan and pour over the hot mixture.

A famous cook gives his recipe

A MAN, famous among his friends for his fine cooking, was asked the secret of the delicious boiled ham. He gave this simple recipe: Put a cupful of sugar in the water that is used in boiling the ham. Also use one-half cup of vinegar. Try this and see how much it improves the taste and flavor of the ham.

Every good cook knows that there is no substitute for sugar in improving the enjoyment of other foods. Whether in preparing fresh vegetables, fruits or meats, sugar is the secret of successful cooking.

Sweetness is nature's perfect flavor. It is also the cheapest nutriment that you can buy. Health comes from eating good foods, flavored to please the taste. Beware of extreme reducing diets. "Two Lovers" Film at New Casino
"Two Lovers," co-starring John C. Hobbins and Verna Banks, is the new feature at the New Casino for the week.

"Two Lovers" tells the story of a young man and woman who are in love and whose adventures as teachers in a remote and faithful life are the story of the film. The story is a love story of a young man and woman who are in love and whose adventures as teachers in a remote and faithful life are the story of the film.

The "Handel and Haydn Society," Boston's veteran choral organization, performed its annual rite in presenting Handel's "Messiah" in Symphony Hall. An audience that filled the hall to the rafters heard the soloists and orchestra of symphony players, led by conductor Charles M. Alford. The performance, which was the 15th given by the society, will be repeated this evening.

Never have we heard the "Messiah" with such musical power. It was Handel's great music being rendered sometimes with the warmest beauty, at other times very poorly. Indeed, the music of the "Messiah" was generally good, that of the soloists generally poor, excepting the tenor's first recitative and the work of the orchestra exceedingly curious.

Chef Will Teach

It will be like Old Home Week in the Martha Lee Kitchen next Wednesday, for at 2 p. m. our good friend, Stephen Zaborowski, pastry chef of the Hotel Bellevue, will give you a lesson in the wonderful cooking secrets of his creation.

HARVARD WARS WITH CLUB SIX IN GARDEN

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1928

"COLTERS die hard," chirped Mr. Boston as he breezed into the sporting department today with a brand new brassie slung across his shoulder.

"I was strolling through Franklin Park on Sunday and found a flock of 120 soldiers doing their stuff," went on the veteran. "So I just took my golf outfit out of the mouth hole and take a few swings at the little white again."

"The Franklin Park links were rather soggy, but this didn't appear to interfere with the business of those confound souls who were whaling at the ball with wooden clubs and irons. All of which convinced me that most people get their thrill out of golf by hitting the ball a mile or so."

"Five minutes' good approach and all that help to make up the game, but most of us have a burning desire to do some dale turf stuff. Johnny Keenan, famous pro, always contended that once a fellow gets one good drive off a tee he is a confirmed golfer for life."

"Even when the snow covers the links you will find Huddy Duffy of the Red Sox on the job. Huddy believes in taking his golf where he finds it."

"Huddy is one of the few ball players who ever made a world of hitting, and just as generally as Slim Harris bats for 200."

"Huddy has an eye for the golfing success. It is 'Keep your head down and keep your eye on the ball.'"

"The horseman also refuse to admit that winter is supposed to have arrived. I found plenty of them doing their stuff along the city's magnificent horse paths which is the pride of Park Commissioner Long. The track, as Eddie Mack would say, was a little better, but those in saddle didn't seem to worry about such a handicap. Anybody can ride a horse under ideal conditions, while it takes a real horseman to get speed out of his mount under adverse conditions under foot."

"Arthur Brisbane, world's leading editorial writer, has always contended that horseback riding is one of the most beautiful forms of exercises."

"The mild winter has long lured outdoor sports in the White Mountain States. The old jacks, skis and toboggan devotees will have to wait for more severe weather before they will be in their element."

"The New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine resorts have gone on for weeks sports on a large scale. Ten years ago virtually all of the hotels closed by the first of October. Nowadays, with winter sports at their height of popularity, many of the hotels remain open all season."

"Try and get reservations at some of the mountain resorts over Feb. 22 and you will realize what a hot winter sports have on the people of New England."

"HAVE always favored outdoor sports. When one gets his exercise in the open air, he is breathing in plenty of oxygen. This means health and happiness. One does not get it so quickly when exercising in the great outdoors as when working indoors."

"Indoor exercise is better than no exercise, but, if possible, keep outdoors as much as possible."

"GER TUNNEY seldom worked in an indoor gym. He journeyed to Mount Mansfield every winter so that he could exercise outdoors. During the summer months, he did his stuff amid the beauties of Speculator lake which is situated in the Adirondacks."

"WHEN engaged in winter sports, bundle yourself up warmly and keep your feet dry. If you take these precautions, you will increase your health and get real joy out of living."

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

Pocket and Three-Cushion Play Draws Nation's Billiard Stars

Chicago, Dec. 17 (AP)—Eight famous players prepared to match artists for the world's three-cushion and pocket-billiard championship at Orchestra Hall today.

A record purse of $25,000 plus a share of the gate receipts will go to the winners of the three-day tournament. Both tournaments are considered as the world's championships.

Pocket billiard players are: Ralph Greenleaf, New York champion; Edwin Rindberg, Chicago; Frank Thurner, Schenectady, N. Y.; former Philadelphia, and Pasquale Natta, Baltimore.

In today's opening matches Rindberg was to meet Tabor and Greenleaf was to play Natta.

The three-cushion championship is: Johnny Layton, Seattle, Wash.; Otto Rebert, Philadelphia; and Gus Copeland, Detroit. Rebert meets Layton and Layton plays Copeland in the opening matches.

Each champion will receive $2500 in cash, a salary of $5000 for one year, custody of the diamond medal emblematic of the championship and 50 per cent of half of the net gate receipts.

Rangers Win
New York, Dec. 17.—The Rangers beat Detroit in Madison Square Garden, 3 to 0.

The Rangers made the most of the home advantage in the first game of the season. They scored three goals in the first half and held Detroit to a goalless draw in the second half.

Many Trades Mark 1928 Baseball Year

New York, Dec. 17 (AP)—It may be that 1928 will become known in baseball circles as the year of the "big trade winds."

The playing season is no more than two months past, yet already some clubs have so radically revised their rosters that a fan may be excused for being a bit bewildered as he sees apparent fixtures shuffled from one major league team to another or else into the minors.

The Age-Old Game of Making Love

THE Boston Evening American begins today the publication of the first of a series of "Six Day Novels." A new novel by a famous author, will begin each Monday and be concluded the following Saturday.

CHAPTER I
SHE crossed her legs as casually, as unaffectedly, as unconsciously as a boy. Leaning to whom she had been—and for a few minutes longer would be—nothing more than a vaguely decorative appendage to the Casino, shrugged faintly. Certain slight evoked certain memories. Whenever he saw, as one still occasionally did in Newport, men in liveries rigidly seated behind a pair of horses, his mind went back to the days when Fifth Ave. was not a noisome, gaseous, crowded route to somewhere, but was its own highly desirable goal. He could not see a sail upon the horizon, without remembering a walking trip through Wales, a ferry from Anglesey to Bangor. . . . Perhaps these evocations were due to the fact that his mind was of the sort that instinctively seeks happy recollections and must go back 15 or 20 years to find them.

He was only 35, but there were times when he felt twice that. Seventeen years of the hardest kind of manual work had seemed to blot from consciousness everything except study, the preparation of cases, the trial of them in court, the new cases, the increasing fees, the partnership and now—was it too late?—a vacation.

He had just all his life given him. If he read the sporting page, "Money" Jones' latest triumph only served to remind him that he had been pretty good for a boy of 17 and might have approached championship he had had not his father's sudden death sent him to work as an office boy. If he went to the club, he was only reminded that there had been a revival of Florida last year, before poverty descended upon him that it had been so wonderful! They would, after a lapse of years, "the great musical comedy could not, amuse him.

He had not so definitely that respect for pleasure which had been his a score of years ago. Work, work, work, aiming for success which, achieved, seemed no triumph at all. Everything, in this cessation from labor, that he saw, or did, or heard or read, seemed to remind him of some past joy which could not be regained.

As now, the action of that pretty "Horse Turn to Page 12, Column 6.

GUILTY, PLEADS NO SLAYER AS HE CHEWS GUM

Stanton, Mich., Dec. 17 (GNS)—Chewing gum indifferently, Jimmie Deacon, 13 today pleaded guilty to the murder of his former school teacher, Miss Flannice Carter, 37. . . . Because of the boy's age and the necessity of producing proof, Judge Royce A. Hawley ordered that testimony be taken to decide whether the plea should be entered to first or second degree murder. He said he would set some date this week for taking testimony.

Deacon displayed no emotion when the Prosecutor, D. Hiale Blaise read the information. The schoolboy's father, John, tears in his eyes, shook hands and patted his son's shoulder. The boy's grandfather, handed over and kissed the boy.

Mrs. Deacon, 27, mother of the boy, collapsed. Jimmie has confessed he beat Miss Carter to death because of a mixed feeling of love and hatred for her. A board of alimony has declared him sane.

"ABSURD," SAYS GILDA

Gilda Gray, Polish immigrant girl who has worked her way into film stardom, denies that she intends to marry her manager, C. D. Krepps, in the event she is divorced from Gil Boag of Port Washington, Wis. She arrived on S.S. Paris from a trip abroad with her manager and learned that her husband had filed a counter suit to her divorce action, naming Krepps. Gilda says she will not wed her manager, "as seems the custom in America for actresses."

'DARK HORSE' FOR POSTMASTER

CURB ASKED PARALYSIS CURED BY MONKEYS

Legislation to curb gas and electric light companies which have been exacting excessive dividends from their stockholders from the public is again demanded in a report filed today at the State House by the Public Utilities Commission. The commission resubmitted its recommendation, which Governor Fuller endorsed, for a law providing for a 40 per cent of the capital of any company upon terms which would constitute a contract with the State.

The commission also believes that the present law requires municipalities to purchase the property of local companies in the event that the municipalities determine to engage in the lighting business be repealed. The commission also believes that if any method cannot be devised to avoid unreasonable litigation over decisions of the commission that settlement should grow in favor of public ownership.

Monkey blood is being used successfully to combat infantile paralysis in human beings, according to an announcement at Harvard University today.

Monkeys are the only animals that take the disease, as they are, consequently patients afford the only possible sources of a serum cure, it was stated.

The disease is slowly being eradicated from Massachusetts, according to the Harvard infantile paralysis commission.

In the 1928 epidemic, according to figures given out, the commission, headed by the State department of health, treated some 25 per cent of the 500 cases in the State, a figure compared with but 10 per cent of 1926 cases so treated in 1927.

According to Dr. W. Lloyd Aycock, Jr., of the commission, if the cure is disclosed in the first three days before paralysis sets in, a cure is possible through the use of serum.

One of the purposes of the commission is to educate doctors to "hold the case before the patient is paralysed," which was heretofore thought impossible.

Heir to Wed? No!

Philip Chancellor, 21, left $6,000,000 by his grandpa, denied in Santa Barbara, Cal., that he will wed Helen Baines, with whom he eloped to Reno two years ago. They were soon divorced.

OPEN RACE FOR BOSTON OFFICE IS ORDERED

If the U. S. Civil Service Commission is to be taken into word, the race for the postmastership of Boston will be an event with the chance for a dark horse to lead the field.

Charles H. Cox, Massachusetts Republican, and William Louis K. Lodge, Democrat, are the main contenders for the post.

Located at the first floor of the Federal Building today were citizens asked by the commission to name a "dark horse" candidate for the job. A list of names was compiled and will be sent to the commission for its consideration.

mother, "Mother Trust" was the name of the San Francisco newspaper. The article was written by a native columnist on this play, and the father of the Euterpeans had shot but failed to kill the critic in the square. The Euterpeans, and other children, less fortunately introduced, were making their way through Sacramento and the surrounding hills, and the Euterpeans and a bevy of others, scattering in twos and threes, singing and dancing.

SOUTH bids one Spade, West holding is typical of a hand that he is not only due to surprise, but also to surprise his partner. Spade, North would have jumped the bid to three. East, assuming the double to have been with the hope of a Heart response, and holding length and strength in that suit, much better than his partner could reasonably expect, together with the Ace of Diamonds, decides to be shut out, making three hearts.

South's bidding does not warrant a rebid, despite his partner's suggestion. West also passes, well content with his partner's Heart rebid.

OF COURSE I WOULDN'T WHISPER IT TO ANYBODY OUTSIDE OUR OWN FAMILY, BUT A FEW OF OUR TOWELS ARE MISSING SINCE THE KIMBLEYS WERE HERE OVER THE WEEK-END.

TOWELS ARE LIKE UMBRELLAS—SOME OF OUR BEST PEOPLE WILL STEAL 'EM.

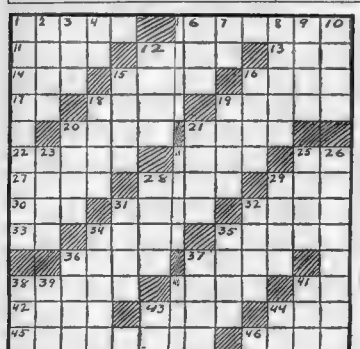

"THE KIMBLEYS" INITIAL IS "K"—JUST LIKE OURS. OUR TOWELS WERE MADE FOR THEM.

AND THEY HAD THE CRIST TO ACCEPT OUR INVITATION BACK FOR ANOTHER WEEK-END THIS FRIDAY. WELL, WE'LL BE READY FOR THEM NEXT TIME.

THERE! I GUESS THAT WILL KEEP OUR TOWELS AT HOME.

CORRECT MANNERS

MY MRS. CORNELIUS BECKMAN,
DEAR MRS. BECKMAN—

I had purchased two tickets for the senior play to be given at our high school. On account of a previous engagement he and mother will not be able to attend the performance. Would it be correct for me to ask a young man with whom I graduated from the school to escort me to the play?

A DAUGHTER

YES, in deed, perfectly correct and delightful friendly request. I am sure you have the letters for so many girls leave this question uncertain, and their answers are often embarrassed as to what they are expected to do about tickets.

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

A few months ago I became acquainted with a girl at a dance. I was very friendly with her during the evening, but that was the first and last time I saw her, because she was from out of town. A few weeks ago I received an announcement of her engagement, and I thought I knew her well enough to write a letter of congratulation. Was this proper? She sent me a
